

August 15, 2016

Greetings to the members of Orchestra Omaha,

Our 18th season is about to get underway and we have a very exciting season planned! Yulia Kalashnikova will perform the Prokofiev Piano Concerto No. 1 in October, and Jennifer Ahn will play the Wieniawski Violin Concerto No. 2 in April. A new experience for us will involve OCM Faculty members joining us for two concerts. Of course, the rehearsal and concert venue is definitely a major positive factor for us.

The concert schedule is listed here:

Saturday, October 1, at 7:00 p.m. at OCM

Friday, October 28, Grace University Collaborative Concert, 7:00 p.m. at Grace University

Saturday, November 12, at 7:00 p.m. at OCM

Saturday, March 11, 2017, at 7:00 p.m. at OCM

Saturday, April 22, 2017, at 7:00 p.m. at OCM

Please note that all of our concerts are on Saturdays, with the dress rehearsals to be held in the afternoon on the same day as the concerts.

Our first rehearsal will be held on September 1, at OCM, from 7:30 – 9:30. Please note the time change for the start of rehearsal---this is to accommodate the OCM faculty who will be joining us. I do not have a date yet for music pickup, but will get that out soon. The rehearsal schedule will be in your folders, and is also on our website at orchestraomaha.org. Each rehearsal begins with announcements, and it is helpful if all players can be in place by 7:25, so that we can begin rehearsal on time.

Woodwind, brass, and percussion players, if you must miss a rehearsal, please arrange for a substitute. More information is available in the attendance policy.

If you know someone who may be interested in joining us, contact Linda Autenrieth at 402.502.7641 or email: violinda@centurylink.net so an audition can be scheduled. We are always looking for new players.

Your awesome talent and dedication are very much appreciated. We are excited to see all of you at rehearsal! Please contact any of the board members with any questions or suggestions you may have.

Musically yours,

Pat Terry,
President
